Death mask - artistic portrait of the deceased

A souvenir for the surviving relatives is the death mask. Originally as a plaster cast, later also as a silicone cast, adorned with precious stones and jewelry, the death mask is a reminder of the deceased, which should do justice to his*her character. Through photography it is also possible to create such a death mask photographically and combine it with personal things and preferences - a portrait of the deceased.

photographic accompaniment of the funeral, anointing, etc.

When accompanying the funeral, anointing and other important steps in the bereavement, the moments of the gathering are recorded with classic documentary photography and translated into a unifying photographic language. Furthermore, artistic photographic means are used to visualize the processes of those involved. The photographic documentation helps those affected to understand and go their own way.

Others

Every life is individual and needs different images, so the photographs are also individual and (almost) every wish can be addressed photographically.

All documentations and photographs can also be photographed analog (negative film). With an analog picture often a somewhat different sphere is entered, which is also possible with digital photography, but is implemented differently and more purposefully.

What other possibilities are there?

The Polaroid, the instant photo brings moments to life and to remember in a very special artistic variant. Whoever wants such an original, can request this at any time and then it will be implemented by me.

Price on request

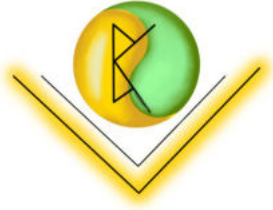

Another option is the artistic processing and editing of photographs (digital and analog). This means that photographs can be painted, embroidered or made in a certain way as a unique work of art (always in connection with the particular case)
